Boys and the girls, like Jessie, who come into Baptist Children's Homes' (BCH) care are often from traumatic circumstances. They arrive at our foster care homes and cottages located across NC bearing scars. Those scars can be emotional but sometimes they are physical as well. Jessie came into her BCH cottage with both.

Jessie's family was abusive and immersed in a lifestyle of drugs. The house they lived in more closely resembled a meth lab than a home. One day, the family's life literally went up in flames when the meth lab caught fire. The blaze not only burned the house to the ground, but it badly burned both of Jessie's arms leaving them scarred.

Jessie found comfort and safety with her BCH cottage parents and the other girls in the cottage where she now lived. As Christmas approached, she asked her cottage mother to put long-sleeve shirts on her wish list to cover up her scars. While healing from physical and emotional scars takes time, Jessie is learning day by day that there is now hope for her. Through her cottage parents, churches, and friends like you, she is being pointed to a Heavenly Father who loves her unconditionally. Jessie's healing has begun.

You share hope with a child, like Jessie, when you select a gift from this year's Christmas catalog.
